

The Nebraska Department of Education in partnership with TNTP is excited to introduce a THIRD offering of...

FOUNDATIONAL LITERACY FOR GRADES 6-12

RESEARCH-BACKED APPROACHES TO SUPPORTING STRUGGLING READERS IN GRADES 6-12

JOIN NEBRASKA'S SECONDARY (6-12) EDUCATORS TO SHAKE UP THE STATE OF LITERACY!

ABOUT THIS OPPORTUNITY:

Historically, teacher development in foundational literacy has focused on elementary teachers. The NDE is excited to offer a course from TNTP called The Science of Reading, which will focus on foundational literacy through a secondary lens!

Educators will get to dig into the research, its relevance for all K-12 learners, and strategies to support reading development at the secondary level. Participants will experience high quality online learning, set at their own pace with course access for one full calendar year!

COURSE OUTLINE

- Literacy and Equity: Strong Instruction for Secondary Learners
- Building a Foundation: Reading Foundational Skills Instruction for Secondary Students
- Making Sense of Complex Text
- Building Knowledge and Vocabulary Through Text
- Evidence-Based Discussion and Writing: Keys to Developing Ideas
- High-Quality Instructional Materials: The Cornerstone of Strong Literacy Instruction

AT A GLANCE

Additional Information

How do I enroll?

There are 160 total spots available for this opportunity. The online registration window is open now and will close on August 29, 2024 OR when the 160 available spaces for the course are filled, whichever occurs first. When all spaces for the course are filled, registration will close, even if that date is before August 29, 2024. The online course will begin on September 5, 2024.

Will there be a stipend or graduate credit for the online course?

There will not be a stipend or graduate credit available at this time, as that requires the completion of the in-person Capstone. Educators are invited to obtain a certificate of completion that can be used towards professional development requirements set by your districts.

SPACE IS LIMITED TO 160 EDUCATORS
